We set the course a little shorter this week and it worked well with the shorter evening. Conditions seemed like a normal summer evening, except for a lot of high clouds. Race 1, Paul had a big lead at the last windward mark. Then shortly before the downwind mark sailed into a spot with absolutely no wind. Dave drifted by and took the lead. After some strategic tacking the boats were overlapped at the finish, but Dave held on for his first bullet of the season.

Next week, let's try to arrive a little early. The week after will need the start to be 5:30
